You walk into a room carrying your Martin D12-28...guitarists there know you play but...how well?

You strike the first chord and the warm, rich tone immediately takes everyone into another dimension.

You have blown away everyone in the room.

If you're ready to take your guitar playing to the next level, no guitar will take you there faster than a Martin D12-28.

This guitar is a top of the line instrument built to last for generations.

Its Sitka spruce top and East Indian rosewood body give this guitar the warm, rich tone only found in a Martin.

But even though I've owned a Martin D12-28 for over 38 years don't take my word for it...watch this video for the full experience. <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Haff7420bbo>

Notice how clear the higher notes are? That's because 14 frets are clear of the body, letting you reach the high notes easily.

Even if you're woodshedding and writing songs, just strumming the strings of your Martin D12-28 will inspire you more than you could ever imagine. I know, this guitar has been an endless source of inspiration for me.

Gorgeous sound from a beautiful guitar.....

As reviewed by William on 10/30/2014 10:41:13 AM

This is my first 12-string, and my first Martin, if you don't count my little Martin Backpacker. And man, this thing is a beauty! It came fast, was easy to tune, and practically plays itself. I don't have big hands, and worried about a twelver but this thing has a super nice action and the perfect size neck. It really sings. I can't stop playing it! I'd highly recommend it to any player looking that lush twelve string sound. Super workmanship on this thing, too, just what I'd expect from Martin.

Expensive and worth it!

Costly? Yes it is. Worth it? absolutely. Smart purchase? Consider this...most 12 string guitars are produced on long scale, 25.4. This guitar is produced short scale 24.9, which means as your guitar gets older with regular use, the chances of the bridge pulling off the top are far less than that of a long scale, 25.4 instrument, which has greater tension. This is something to think about when cost of repairs is "up the re".

Great Buy

Best acoustic I've played, hands down. Great looks, awesome feel, and amazing sound. I don't regret this purchase at all. It sounds great live or recorded. BUY THIS GUITAR.
